

E.N. Webb Jewelry Shop
By Wester Potter

I remember going by that shop the morning after a Halloween when the windows had been waxed! That used to be the mean thing to do to windows instead of soaping them with a bar of Ivory soap that was soft enough to spread on the smooth surface. The was was a pain to get off as you can imagine.